

CHOLILA RANCH MALBEC

Argentina – Patagonia

Cholila is the name of a town in Patagonia, but more famously, it was the location of Butch Cassidy & the Sundance Kid's ranch. The outlaws bought the ranch in 1901 and lived there for about 4 years, before they were forced to sell it & flee to evade detectives.

Cholila Ranch Malbec shows a deep purple color, and aromas of ripe plum and mulberry with violet hints. Ripe black fruits and fig on the palate combine with touches of smoke and vanilla. Powerful yet balanced with a persistent finish.

A value this incredible should be outlawed!

Butch Cassidy & Etta Place at Cholila Ranch

Region	Patagonia – Cholila District
Varietal(s)	100% Malbec
Vinification	The estate-grown grapes are manually harvested, carefully sorted, and destemmed. The wine undergoes traditional maceration for 21 days with selected yeasts. Aged in American and French oak for 9 months, followed by a minimum of 6 months bottle aging prior to release.
Size	12/750ml
UPC	7 84585 01169 8