

GRAND VENEUR
CÔTES DU RHÔNE

2018

The Washington Post
EXCEPTIONAL.

"Unusually low in acidity, this rosé gave off a first impression of softness rather than the racy refreshment we tend to expect from this type of wine. But the second impression quickly took over, then the third and so on, as a fruit basket of flavors revealed itself. My palate seemed to be strolling through a Provençal hill town on market day, drinking in the sights, smells and savors of fresh strawberries, raspberries and wildflowers."

KYSELA PERE et FILS, LTD.

GRAND VENEUR
CÔTES DU RHÔNE

2018

The Washington Post
EXCEPTIONAL.

"Unusually low in acidity, this rosé gave off a first impression of softness rather than the racy refreshment we tend to expect from this type of wine. But the second impression quickly took over, then the third and so on, as a fruit basket of flavors revealed itself. My palate seemed to be strolling through a Provençal hill town on market day, drinking in the sights, smells and savors of fresh strawberries, raspberries and wildflowers."

KYSELA PERE et FILS, LTD.

GRAND VENEUR
CÔTES DU RHÔNE

2018

The Washington Post
EXCEPTIONAL.

"Unusually low in acidity, this rosé gave off a first impression of softness rather than the racy refreshment we tend to expect from this type of wine. But the second impression quickly took over, then the third and so on, as a fruit basket of flavors revealed itself. My palate seemed to be strolling through a Provençal hill town on market day, drinking in the sights, smells and savors of fresh strawberries, raspberries and wildflowers."

KYSELA PERE et FILS, LTD.

GRAND VENEUR
CÔTES DU RHÔNE

2018

The Washington Post
EXCEPTIONAL.

"Unusually low in acidity, this rosé gave off a first impression of softness rather than the racy refreshment we tend to expect from this type of wine. But the second impression quickly took over, then the third and so on, as a fruit basket of flavors revealed itself. My palate seemed to be strolling through a Provençal hill town on market day, drinking in the sights, smells and savors of fresh strawberries, raspberries and wildflowers."

KYSELA PERE et FILS, LTD.

GRAND VENEUR
CÔTES DU RHÔNE

2018

The Washington Post
EXCEPTIONAL.

"Unusually low in acidity, this rosé gave off a first impression of softness rather than the racy refreshment we tend to expect from this type of wine. But the second impression quickly took over, then the third and so on, as a fruit basket of flavors revealed itself. My palate seemed to be strolling through a Provençal hill town on market day, drinking in the sights, smells and savors of fresh strawberries, raspberries and wildflowers."

KYSELA PERE et FILS, LTD.

GRAND VENEUR
CÔTES DU RHÔNE

2018

The Washington Post
EXCEPTIONAL.

"Unusually low in acidity, this rosé gave off a first impression of softness rather than the racy refreshment we tend to expect from this type of wine. But the second impression quickly took over, then the third and so on, as a fruit basket of flavors revealed itself. My palate seemed to be strolling through a Provençal hill town on market day, drinking in the sights, smells and savors of fresh strawberries, raspberries and wildflowers."

KYSELA PERE et FILS, LTD.