

Ferren Chardonnay Lancel Creek Vineyard

Ferren Wines

United States - California - Sonoma Coast

Lancel Creek is a secluded two-acre vineyard perched above the tiny hamlet of Occidental on the remote Sonoma Coast. The pale, off-white Goldridge soil provides just enough nutrients and moisture for these densely planted vines to ripen a small amount of intensely aromatic and flavorful Chardonnay. The vineyard faces the Pacific Ocean, a mere five miles to the west. The combined influence of the cold Pacific and the warming afternoon sun produces a wine of incredible richness and sublime balance.

Soil types: Goldridge, fine sandy loam.

Age of the vines: 15 years
