

Siegel Gran Reserva Sauvignon Blanc

Vina Siegel

Chile - Aconcagua Region - Leyda Valley

The Gran Reserva wines represent the union of tradition and innovation in two generations. The grapes are sourced through careful selection of their best vineyards in the cool coastal Leyda Valley region. Siegel Gran Reserva Sauvignon Blanc offers a pale yellow color with green hues and reveals intense and complex aromas of grapefruit and pear accented by mineral notes. The palate is balanced and juicy with a vibrant acidity and a soft, lingering finish.

| Specifications |  |
|----------------|--|
| Appellation    | Leyda Valley   |
| Varietals      | 100% Sauvignon Blanc   |
| Vinification   | Early morning harvest, then fermentation at 14-15 degrees C. After alcoholic fermentation, part of the wine is left on the lees. Once blended and clarified, the wine undergoes cold stabilization and is filtered through the soil. Filtered again on the bottling line (through sterile sheet and membrane to ensure microbiological stability). No oak. |
| Pairings       | Serve with shellfish, fish and sushi.  |

| Codes, Weights and Measures |                              |
|-----------------------------|------------------------------|
| UPC                         | 7 84585 01679 2              |
| Units/Case                  | 12                           |
| Unit Size                   | 750 mL                       |
| Container                   | bottle                       |
| SCC                         | 1 07 84585 01179 4           |
| Case Weight                 | 39                           |
| Cases/Pallet                | 56                           |
| Layers/Pallet               | 14                           |
| ABV                         | 13.00%                       |
| SRP                         | $ 17.99 USD750mL Bottle |